100 DEAD, 200 OTHERS TRAPPED IN MINE

BUTTE, Mont., June 9.—One hundred and fifty men are reported dead and no hope is held out for the recovery of 200 others trapped under ground by a fire in the Speculator copper mine here early today. Out of 425 men in the mine at the time the fire broke out, more than two-thirds are unaccounted for. Twelve bodies have been recovered.

The fire, which started on the 2400-foot level spread quickly, cutting off the escape of men on lower levels. Dense smoke retarded rescue work. Miners from adjoining properties went to work as rescuing gangs, aiding national guardsmen who had been called to the scene. They were able to do little.

Warning of danger came in time to permit men on the upper levels to escape. They immediately formed rescue parties and attempted to go down the shaft to the men believed entombed. Their efforts were fruitless and little could be done until the arrival of the bureau of mines safety first cars from Red Lodge and Colorado Springs.

One hour after the outbreak of the fire, it was announced that only 215 out of 425 who were in the shaft when the fire started could be accounted for.

LONDON, June 9, 1.32 p. m.—Foreign Secretary Balfour arrived at a British port this morning on his return from his trip to America at the head of the British mission.

The newspapers, though fully aware of Mr. Balfour's movements, co-operated loyally under a censorious censorship to allow no mention of Mr. Balfour's routes or times of departure to be published.

PERSHING MEETS BIG KING GEORGE

LONDON, June 9, 11.15 a. m.—General Pershing was received this morning at Buckingham palace by King George. He was presented to the king by Lord Brooke, commander of the Twelfth Canadian Infantry brigade.

General Pershing was accompanied to the palace by his personal staff of 12 officers. After the audience the officers paid a formal call at the United States embassy.

After the formal reception, the king shook hands with Gen. Pershing and the members of his staff, and expressed his pleasure at welcoming the advance guard of the American army.

London Papers Comment
LONDON, June 9.—Detailed stories of the landing of Gen. Pershing and his party at Liverpool and the arrival in London fill a large part of the leading news columns in the morning papers. Arrangements for the stay of the Americans in England, plans for the future, biographies and portraits of the American general and pictures of reception in Liverpool crowd the news from the front into second place.

The editorial articles while welcoming Gen. Pershing personally, dwell particularly on the significance of the arrival of the American advance guard as a symbol of the great victory of all the great events in the midst of which we are living—so vividly great that none can pretend to foresee what the full harvest will be for the English-speaking world and the sacred doctrines it accepts.

Emphasis is also laid on the certainty of ultimate victory which American co-operation is believed to insure. A typical expression of this confidence reads: "Ours is the burden of today, but the burden is made light by the knowledge that the co-operation of the United States ensures the glory of tomorrow."

RECRUITING EFFORT TONIGHT

Tonight is going to be a big night in local recruiting circles. At the World of Pleasure show on the Lakewood avenue grounds Corp. McCready will make a last desperate effort to fill up the ranks of the sixth regiment companies, and those who are acquainted with the corporal's eloquence and earnestness have no doubt that he will come near reaching the mark.

Sergeants Gill and Mann will assist him this evening, and these two popular young men will undoubtedly be the means of enlisting several recruits. All the Lowell recruits will leave for Framingham within a week, according to present plans, and so there need be no fear of hanging around the army for several weeks in the warm weather. If a man enlists now he will undergo almost immediately intensive outdoor training in the direction of experienced officers. So all up to tonight's rally!

The gold Elgin watch which is to be given to the first man who passes the examination after enlisting on the Lakewood avenue grounds is now on exhibition in McCready's window in Merrimack street. The winner of the watch will be judged by a committee of four local business men, as Capt. Downes does not wish to decide the winner. Tonight is the last chance to win the time-piece as the recruiting tent is to be pulled down this evening.

There were 10 "rookies" on the South common this morning under the direction of Corp. McCready, and they were put through a stiff drill by the color. At the Westford street armory several squads from the machine gun company held a silent drill under Sergeant Talbot. These men later went to North Chelmsford to take part in the flag raising exercises which were held there.

Corp. McCready was also present at the exercises and addressed those assembled in the interest of recruiting.

At the regular army station this morning it was announced that three young men will be forwarded to Fort Conant on Monday. Their names are James Bell, 50 Kinsman street; Niklaus Foukatis, Manchester, N. H.; and Pop E. Petradellis, Ayer Junction.

On next Wednesday morning another batch of naval recruits will be sent to Newport, and a demonstration like yesterday will be held. Following are the names of the sons of Long street:

Albert Smith, 56 Fourth street; Crosby E. Hobbs, Hudson; Joseph M. Brisobols, Sandown, N. H.; Owen F. Malley, Lawrence; Everett E. Ashton, Meluen; John H. McDonald, Meluen; Emil Anderson, 103 Elm street; William B. Booth, North Chelmsford; Percy E. Haynes, 28 Brooks street; Raymond J. Moore, North Andover; Harry Castle, Lawrence; Charles M. Collins, 78 Bartlett street; Mark J. Gallagher, Lawrence; Andrew J. Finnegan, Lawrence; Walter Wilkinson, Methuen; Milton D. Cooldge, Hudson; Ralph S. B. Hudson; Robert C. Bundy, Hudson; John M. Connelly, 20 Lagrange street; and Edward M. Cadden, 110 Chapel street.

Battery B has received a gun from the East. In the near future the various parts will be explained to the men.

Today The Sun inaugurates a new feature, The Sunday Supplement, which is hereafter to form a part of the Saturday edition. This supplement is made up of special articles on a great variety of topics and sure to contain something of interest to everybody.

In addition to the numerous articles dealing with matters of general interest, this supplement will have such local specials as the Spellbinder, Lady Lookabout, and the Quarter Century, already favorably known to Sun readers. It will also have a Washington letter from Richards, The Sun's correspondent, giving a very interesting review of the stirring events at the capital. It will have discussions on the war, on popular movements throughout the country and on sporting events, superbly illustrated, all of which will be enjoyed by the men. For our lady readers it will contain articles dealing with the latest fashions and household economics, such as the conservation of food, while able writers will discuss health matters, particularly the care of young children.

Most of the Sunday supplements are printed several days before Sunday so that in this respect The Sun supplement will be as much of a Sunday edition as the best of them. It will furnish an abundance of good reading for the family over Sunday. There will be nothing objectionable in any of its features, its chief aim being to interest, to instruct and amuse.

It is hoped that this added feature, coming as it does at a time when most papers are curtailing, will be duly appreciated by the public generally. We have Sunday papers ranging in price from two cents to seven cents, many of which will have little more than will be found in the Sunday supplement of The Sun which will be given away with Saturday's edition.

SOME WAR PROPHECIES

There are, as might be expected, many conflicting views as to the outcome of the war, both on land and on sea. The possible withdrawal of Russia would give Germany a great impetus, as it would reduce her fighting front by probably one-half and allow her to transfer her forces from the eastern to the western front. Owing to the inactivity of Russia, Germany has already brought 1,000,000 men from the east to do service against the British and French on the western front. There can be no doubt that the retirement of Russia would prolong the war; but it would not, as some suppose, offer a possibility, nor even a remote possibility, of final victory for Germany.

The Allies will beat Germany without Russia if they must; but it will be a more difficult task. It may take a year longer; but it will be done. They will not even agree to a compromise peace. Some experts, basing their opinions upon the assumption that Germany still retains her fighting power of former years, claim the Allies will never be able to drive her out of France or Belgium, if Russia withdraws.

Russia has not been doing any fighting worth mentioning during the past few months, and yet the Allies have been steadily driving Germany back. There is no reason to assume that Germany can offer sufficient resistance to hold back the Allies during the coming summer and fall. Why? may be asked. Because the Germany of today is not the big fighting force of last year or the year previous. Her armies are made up of boys of eighteen and men of fifty and sixty years.

On the other hand the forces, the generalship, the experience and the power behind the Allied drive, are all superior to those even of last summer and their increased power added to Germany's decreased power will counterbalance the loss of Russia, if that comes. Thus we venture to disagree with the military critics and experts who say that the Allies can never drive Germany back even to the frontier. The great destruction wrought by the exploding of British mines under the German trenches on Thursday morning shows that the tables are being turned on the Germans. The British have at last learned to fight and the French always knew how to fight. Between them they can drive the Germans back without assistance. But in six months hence, another power—the United States—will take an active part on the western front. At a time when Germany had hoped to force a compromise peace without indemnities and without annexation, the United States comes in to change the situation completely and to blast Germany's last hope of victory. Yes, Germany will be driven out of France and possibly out of Belgium and the ruthless submarine warfare on which she staked all the fortunes of war, will be frustrated if not entirely defeated—surely before the end of this year.

Something may come to change the situation, but otherwise, we feel we have forecast what will most probably take place. As to the end of the war, so long as Germany can hold back the forces on land, she will continue the submarine warfare if she can. Unless we are greatly mistaken, therefore, this year will not see the end of the war. The only thing that could force Germany into a surrender would be a scheme to put the submarines out of commission and such a strong drive on the western front as would bring the Allies into German territory. That is not probable this year. It may not occur until the fall of next year, but it will come if Germany sees fit to keep on fighting. Instead of being ended in three years, therefore, as Lord Kitchener predicted, five years may be necessary to bring a victory that will overthrow autocracy, bring freedom to small nationalities and make the world safe for democracy or the rule of the people, for the people and by the people.

MORE GERMAN TREACHERY

As the Germans tried to bluff the world into the belief that England, France and Belgium were conspiring for the destruction of Germany, they are now trying to convince Russia that America is and has been in league with England to despoil Russia. The foulest of lies are put in the mouth of Mr. Gerard, the ambassador to Germany before the war.

The German press is publishing the most ludicrous statements purporting to have been made by Mr. Gerard and tending to show that the United States and England long before we entered the war, were in league to down Russia by having Germany annex part of her territory in order to save England and France from paying indemnities.

Gerard is depicted as a British agent rather than an American minister. Here is a sample of the stuff that is being produced for Russian consumption in this connection:

"In the course of the conversations I became more and more convinced that American and English interests were closely interlocked, and that, in view of the intimate financial relations between the two countries, Mr. Wilson's endeavors would lie in the direction of bringing about a peace favorable to England. Nothing was surprising more to me than the American consent to German territorial annexation in the east in order to persuade Germany to renounce all claims for indemnity in the shape of money or territory in the west. The idea was invariably the kernel of Mr. Gerard's expositions, which betrayed utter indifference to the fate of England's Russian ally.

Germany, it seems, has great faith in her power of misrepresentation and in the credulity of those whom she wishes to delude.

All the German agencies for spreading doubt, mistrust and disorder are now at work in Russia in order, if possible, to have her withdraw from the war and make a separate peace. Germany has a double purpose in this underhand work. The first is to get Russia to stop fighting and the second to discredit the democratic government and thus prevent other countries from similarly abolishing absolutism, as that has been represented by the Czar and as it still exists under the Kaiser in Germany.

Unless Gerard were a veritable ass he would never broach any subject of the kind to any German, much less go into details as now alleged. Nobody who knows him as an American and a man of sound judgment will give any credence to these lies manufactured for the purpose of deluding Russia into a separate peace, which, regardless of conditions or treaties, will mean future disaster for Russia.

No nation on earth can afford to rely upon any pledge or treaty made by Germany. She has proved herself so devoid of honor, so indifferent to past pledges, so deceitful, so treacherous, so cruel, so conscienceless, that nothing can safely be left to her discretion. If she is to pursue a just course in the future it must be under compulsion by superior power.

TEAM WORK IN BONDS

The rich man and the poor man are said to have done their full duty towards the Liberty Bonds. The "slacker" is the middle man. It is alleged that New England is far behind the amount which it was expected to contribute to this loan. That indicates failure unless a great effort be made at the last moment.

In some other cities there are team movements that have worked well. Thus in one city the firemen make up $5000 or $10,000; in another the police combine to make a showing and so on. This is a good plan to enlist parties who would otherwise fail to respond. Try it in Lowell.

The government books close on June 15. After that date no more subscriptions can be received. It will be the first setback which the nation will have received, if when the offer closes, the entire amount shall not have been subscribed. After that you can't buy a bond from the government. If you want to help thereafter you will be buying the bonds of some bank or some capitalist. Money and men are the two great requisites for war. The men have offered their service but those who have the money hold it with a grip that does not budge a high degree of patriotism.

Seen and Heard

Most of the coloring of the news is done by the yellow journals.

No girl ought to wear a short skirt unless it is becoming to her.

Speaking of substitutes for leather, of course the shoemakers can't afford to use chuck steak.

Something that comparatively few of us have seen lately: The kitchen clock at 4:30 in the morning.

Many of the girls in New York high society smoke now, but not many of them yet have begun to chew.

Now that spring is so far advanced, have you done your duty to the community by varnishing a chair?

Looking at the war, only a hold poet would say now: "Better fifty years of Europe than a cycle of Cathay."

The Kaiser, you know, has said a good deal about wanting a place in the sun. Well, St. Helena is a very sunny island.

Every now and then there is a citizen who is really looked upon as being above suspicion, and who ought not to be.

Of course we have all seen the man who eagerly reads the big headlines in the paper the newsboy holds up, and doesn't buy the paper.

When you have two friends so decided, which is the greater bore, isn't it, fun to set them on each other?

When a girl begins to talk sympathetically to a young man about the high cost of living, it is time for him to stop and think what he has said.

Now that there is so much talk about gardening, one Lowell man is considering the idea of planting cabbage seed and raising the material for his own cigs.

Fortunately, we are such a liberal-minded people that a man can go into a restaurant, now and order frankfurters and sauerkraut without being arrested as a spy.

There is going to be considerable struggle in July, when the backyard farmer has to decide whether to go to see a double-header or stay at home, as he ought to do, and hoe the weeds.

"I FEEL LIKE A NEW BEING"

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" Brought The Joy Of Health After Two Years' Suffering

MADAM LAPLANTE

85 St. Rose St., Montreal. April 4th.

"For over two years I was sick and miserable. I suffered from constant Headaches, and had Palpitation of the Heart so badly that I feared I would die. There seemed to be a lump in my stomach and the Constipation was dreadful. I suffered from Pain in the Back and Kidney Disease.

I was treated by a physician for a year and a half and he did me no good at all. I tried "Fruit-a-lives" as a last resort. After using three boxes, I was greatly improved and twelve boxes made me well. Now I can work all day and there are no Headaches, no Palpitation, no Heart Trouble, no Constipation, no Pain or Kidney Trouble and I feel like a new being—and it was "Fruit-a-lives" that gave me back my health."

MADAM ARTHUR LAPLANTE,

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c.

At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-

a-lives Limited, Ogdensburg, New York.

York. Herbert Blenner, a machinist, was arraigned, charged with having injured Peter Gelsner by striking him with a motorcycle while speeding along Sixth avenue last March.

"How is it," asked the magistrate, "that this case is coming up at this time? What did you do at the time?"

"I went through a saloon window," answered the complainant.

Geography, Local and Foreign

A few nights ago a lady asked a Highland car conductor to let her off at the nearest point to Grace street, and he said he did not know of any Grace street, but had heard of Grace church.

Yesterday the writer heard the following dialogue between two employees of the same corporation. They had been reading The Sun bulletin announcing the severance of relations between the Haitian government and Germany. Tom—Where is Haiti? Bill—I guess it is in Brazil or somewhere in South America. Tom—No, I think it is over in the Philippines. Bill—Well, I don't care, as long as they tell the Kaiser's errand boy to skidoo.

Erasing the Hyphen

It was the day after registration. The shoe-shine parlor had only the two of us as occupants, and as the good-looking Grecian artist worked industriously in an attempt to behold his reflection in the toes of my good old "sevens," the situation was naturally productive of conversation. "Register yesterday?" I ventured.

"Sure."

"How would like to be drafted?"

"They look after my wife and children—I glad to go; I like army."

"No, I marry when sixteen—no chance."

"How about the old country?"

"Everybody drill there; all ready when time comes. Have it over here after this war."

Thus the hyphen is being erased.

The Cost of Wellick

In the opinion of Vincent Braithner, there are worse things than death, oh, much. As he explained in the domestic relations court in New York he frequently asks himself, however, inaccurately: Oh, death, where is your sting? And up to the verge of court he had been unable to pump the desired information out of the well known grim reaper.

Mrs. Braithner rose to remark that her purpose in having her husband taken to court was to make certain that she received less abuse and more money from him. She told the court that they occupied a three-room purgatory in West 12th street, and that her husband, with the aid of a notorious disposition, astounding vocabulary, acknowledged strength and unquestioned lack of restraint, was making every possible effort to thoroughly Shermanize it.

"Well?" said the judge, surveying the somewhat bruised and discolored defendant.

"Judge," said Mr. Braithner, holding one hand tenderly before one Alice-blue eye, "I married my wife after a great fight. The man I beat in the battle for I married her—'an' now looks me."

Mr. Braithner agreed to pay $5 a week, although making it clear that he considered the cost of wedlock tremendous and the advantage negligible.

You Are Great, Father William (Or Chaos in Fatherland)

"You are great, Father William," the crown prince said, "And your armies can certainly fight."

And yet not an ally has turned tail and fled. Do you think, papa dear, it is right?"

"Do not fear," Father William replied to his son, "I am mighty, and God's closest friend."

I've offered them peace, but if they will have none, Our Kultur will win in the end."

"You are great," said the prince, "as I mentioned before. And you're pounding your enemies flat."

Yet they seem so surprisingly ready for more—Pray tell me the reason for that."

"Do not fear," said the king, as he twirled his mustache, "God and I, son, are doing our best. If God will give powder, guns, food, men and cash, I will furnish the rest."

"You are great," said the prince, "you are known for your wit. And even the neutrals don't like you a bit—"

I don't understand it, do you?"

"Do not fear," said the father, "they know what it means. For their friends, mothers, children and wives."

If I send out my Zeppelins and big So they naturally fear for their lives."

"You are great," said the prince, "one You'd be haled by powder and shell. Yet here you're completely surrounded by foes."

And what is the reason, pray tell?"

"I've answered three questions," the Kaiser replied, "And that is sufficient, my son. There are things I'll admit, that I shall not tell."

Please return now and capture Verdun."

SELL LOTS ON COMMON AT PUBLIC AUCTION

The members of the park commission held a regular meeting at city hall last evening and the matter of disposing of the lots on the South common for the Fourth of July midway was settled, it being voted to sell the lots at auction to the highest bidder.

The plans for the erection of a beauty spot on the South common at the wading pool were discussed, and it was suggested that the pool be made smaller with a clean and safe bottom, and that a garden park and landscape development be established at the Thorne street end of the pool. The drawings will be ready in a week and a meeting will be held next Friday afternoon at 6 o'clock.

M. J. Mahoney asked that a tree be removed at 550 Westford street because it is in the sidewalk and decaying, and the matter was referred to the tree committee. Michael Sullivan asked that a tree at 44 White street be taken down and this was also referred to the tree committee. O. S. Gray asked that a tree be removed at Oak and Huntington streets, and D. Walker petitioned for the removal of a tree at 64 Nineteenth street. Referred. The Saco-Lowell shop was authorized to remove two trees that prevent the erection of its new mill.

SALVATION ARMY FLAG RAISING

Flag exercises were held at the Salvation Army barracks in Jackson at last night, a very interesting program being carried out under the direction of Adj. James Rowering and the junior sergeant major, James Sawyer. The program opened with the singing of "America" accompanied by the band. Then came an explanation of the national flag of various countries and how they are made by Serg. Maj. Sawyer and as each flag was produced the national anthem of the country which the banner represented was either played by the band or sung by the congregation. Among the flags displayed were the British union jack, Canadian, Russian, French, Belgian, Italian, Japanese, Serbian, Norwegian and Portuguese, with, of course, the Stars and Stripes leading all the others on the program. The Salvation Army flag was also shown and the army song sung.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of James A. Garfield Relief Corps was held Thursday at which there was a large attendance of members. Whist was enjoyed during the afternoon and it proved to be such a success that it was voted to hold another whist party at the next meeting. As usual an excellent supper was served, the arrangements being in charge of Pauline Crawford assisted by Ada Myrick and Mrs. Dockham. Mrs. Elvira Giles Platters presided at the business session and considerable routine business was transacted. Invitations were received and accepted to attend B. F. Butler Relief Corps, 75 flag day exercises on June 14 in Memorial hall, also from the Middlesex County Association on June 26 to be held in the town hall of Westford, and the national convention to be held in Boston. Final arrangements were made for our flag day exercises to be held on June 18, commencing at 7:45 o'clock in Post 120 hall, G. A. R., to which the public is invited. The annual memorial services in honor of the soldier and sailor dead which will be held in Tynesboro on Sunday, June 17, at 3 o'clock, the public is also invited. The meeting closed with the salute to the flag.

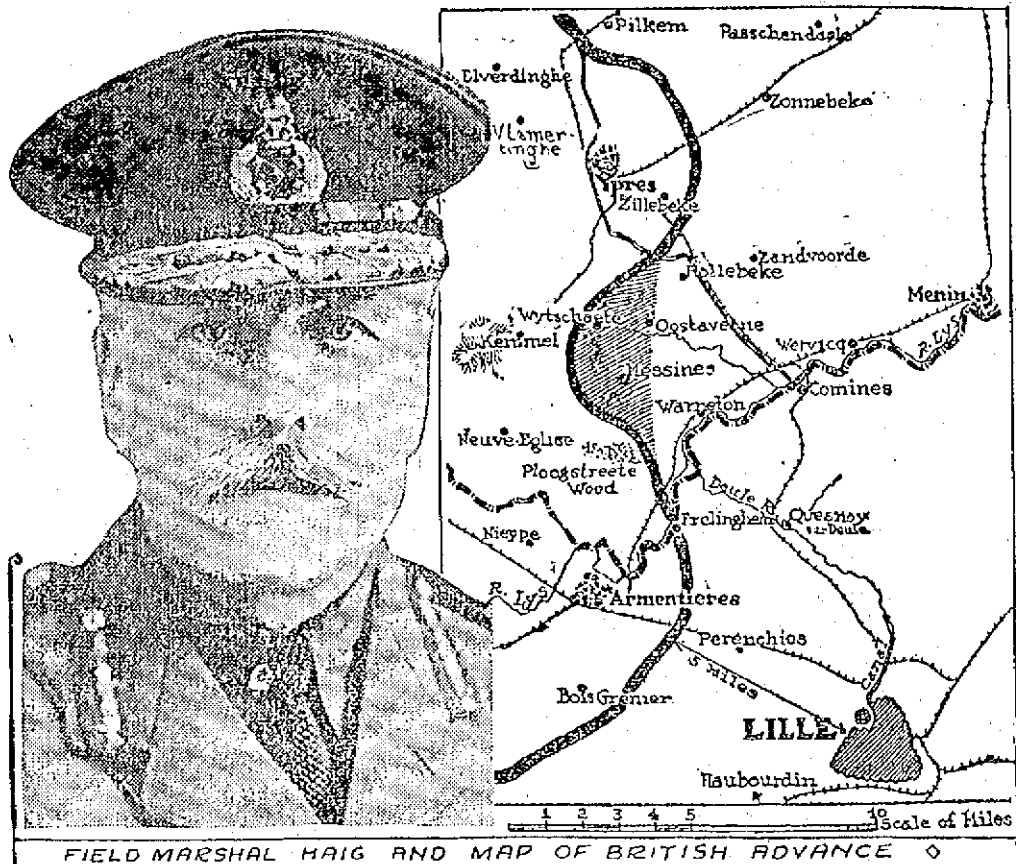

The regular meeting of Court General Division, 217, F. of A. was held in Grafton hall last evening. Chief Ranger Francis J. Murphy presided and, assisted by a large membership, transacted considerable routine business. The visiting committee reported three members on the sick list but all are improving. One candidate was initiated into the order and another for membership were elected. The next meeting is to be a summoned meeting at which important matters will be taken up.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

A horse belonging to Henry Hilton of Chicago, Ill., who has a farm in Tewksbury, raised considerable excitement in Merrimack Square last evening and two women who occupied the buggy to which the horse was attached had a narrow escape from injury.

The horse, which was driven by Omer Blanchard of Tewksbury, was left standing in Merrimack Square while Mr. Blanchard entered Fairview's market. While he was gone one of the women taking the reins started to drive the horse around to the other side of the square in order to head it in the direction of Belvidere. While making the turn the animal became frightened and started to run, just missing a collision with one of the repair trucks of the Bay State Street Railway Co., which was stationed nearby. An automobile was drawn up near the curb and between this machine and a post the buggy got caught, the harness breaking allowing the horse to race through East Merrimack street. The women in the buggy escaped injury, but were badly frightened. Later the animal was captured.

BRITISH AUTHORITIES PRAISE HAIG FOR SMASH AGAINST GERMAN LINE

FIELD MARSHAL HAIG AND MAP OF BRITISH ADVANCE

The shaded portion of the accompanying map shows the extent of the great British advance, which extended from southwest of Ypres to Ploegsteerte wood. The black line shows the former battle line.

The inverted "S," the northern portion curving around Ypres and the southern which the British have flattened out, is indicated. England's military authorities award the major portion of the credit for the recent British advances to Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, British commander in the field, whose latest photograph is reproduced herewith. Sir Douglas was advanced from the rank of general to that of field marshal in January.

At a recent meeting the graduating class of the Lowell high school voted to give to the Red Cross fund the money which was usually spent on a class gift. This sum combined with over $35 which was realized from this year's class social, will total approximately $125, and will be an appreciable addition to the fund.

MONEY FOR RED CROSS

Plans for the school graduation, which is to take place June 27, are rapidly rounding into shape, and meetings of the class are being held frequently to perfect the minor details.

FLAG RAISING

On Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock a flag raising will be held at the common in Duxbury Center, when a large banner will be unfurled from a seventy-five foot pole. A program of patriotic exercises has been arranged and will include the following:

The presentation of the flag and oration by Dr. Moses G. Parker, and address by Senator Arthur W. Coburn. Miss Anna Roth and George Guthrie will sing, and Mrs. Belle Harrington will read. There will be chorusing, singing and an orchestra will furnish a musical program. The Boy Scouts from the Hillsdale church will be in attendance, and will be presented a silk flag which has recently been given to them by Capt. Wm. P. White, U.S.N., retired, for the honors which they won in the efficiency contest held by several scout troops.

PARADE AND FLAG RAISING AT NO. CHELMSFORD

This afternoon at North Chelmsford patriotic exercises in the form of a parade and flag raising were held, and from every viewpoint were wholly successful. At 2:15 the parade started from the town hall and was made up of the following representations:

FIRST DIVISION
Chief Marshal and Aids
Lowell Cadet Band
Members of the National Guard
Local Branch of the Red Cross Society
Clergy and Selectmen of Chelmsford
Pupils of West Chelmsford School

Members Camp Merrimack, Camp Fire Girls
Ladies' Auxiliary
St. John's T. A. S.
Court Warrant, 171, M.C.O.F., Chelmsford, Ride Club

The members of the National Guard received special applause as they passed in line, as well as the G.A.R. and Spanish War Veterans. After traversing the principal streets of the town, the company assembled at the common where the following program of exercises was carried out under the direction of Chairman D. Frank Smith:

Selections, Lowell Cadet Band; invocation, Rev. Henry L. Scott; bugle call, "To the Colors"; flag raising; "The Star Spangled Banner"; chorus, bands and audience address; Hon. John L. Bates, former governor of Massachusetts; selection, Lowell Cadet band; "To Thee, O Country";

high school chorus; address, Thomas L. Walsh, Esq.; English and French national anthems; accompanied by raising of French and English flags; benediction, Rev. A. Hudson; "America," chorus, bands and audience.

Each of the speakers spoke in an appropriate vein, and through the presence of Hon. John L. Bates, former governor of Massachusetts, and Major Thomas L. Walsh, brother of former Governor Walsh, the exercises took on a state character rather than that of a purely local affair. At the conclusion of the program the Training School band offered a concert of timely selections which was thoroughly appreciated.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Miss Mary Giffin, who is soon to become the bride of Mr. Cecil Peiton of Pitts Motor Sales department, was given a miscellaneous shower Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Pitts. The members of the "Till We Meet Again Club" and the Campfire Girls of the Hillsdale church, had charge of the shower, which was held to show the appreciation in which Miss Giffin is held by her friends.

After the shower an interesting program was carried out, and the following young ladies took part: Miss Helen Breck and Miss Helen Teaster with songs; Miss Laura Grant and Miss Lily Tucker, piano selections, and Miss Ethel Tucker, readings.

Miss Laura Grant was the accompanist of the evening.

COMMUNICATION WITH
SALVADOR CUT OFF

CORINTO, Nicaragua, June 1.—Telegraphic communication with Salvador is still cut off and no further information is available here as to loss of life and property caused by the earthquake and storm on Thursday night. Such advices as have reached Corinto indicate that great property loss was occasioned, particularly in Santa Tecla but that the city and the surrounding countryside for a radius of thirty miles has been damaged badly, according to reports.

The earthquake occurred at 6 o'clock on Thursday night. It accompanied by a high wind heavy rain.

No Communication

MEXICO CITY, June 8.—Dr. Gus Bason, San Salvadoran minister been unable to get into communication with his country. The land from Guatemala to La Libertad are dead and the Chapultepec wireless station the most powerful in Mexico, has been unable to get a reply to calls to Salvador since early yesterday. Ernesto Mancos, Guatemalan minister, also has failed in his efforts to get information through Guatemala.

Minister Baron believes that the ter was caused by the volcano co, known as the lighthouse of tral America, or the volcano Ilo go, 19 miles from the capital.

Hopango has a lake in its cr but an eruption burst through the in 1880. The valley of San Salv which was devastated by an earthq and volcano in 1873 is known as

Valley of the Hammock, as the constantly moves and sways.

Early Reports Exaggerated

NEW YORK, June 3.—Done by the earthquake to the San Salvador is not as great as first feared, according to cables received today by Benjamin Bloom, head of the New York house, said that the mass shooting showed the principal loss of life occurred in the suburbs. Few li-lives, according to the messages, lost in the newer part of the which has been built largely within the past 20 years.

OUR SUNDAY SUPPLEMENT

Today The Sun inaugurates a new feature, The Sunday Supplement, which is hereafter to form a part of the Saturday edition. This supplement is made up of special articles on a great variety of topics and sure to contain something of interest to everybody.

In addition to the numerous articles dealing with matters of general interest, this supplement will have such local specials as the Spellbinder, Lady Lookabout, and the Quarter Century, already favorably known to Sun readers. It will also have a Washington letter from Richards, The Sun's correspondent, giving a very interesting review of the stirring events at the capital. It will have discussions on the war, on popular movements throughout the country and on sporting events, superbly illustrated, all of which will be enjoyed by the men. For our lady readers it will contain articles dealing with the latest fashions and household economics, such as the conservation of food, while able writers will discuss health matters, particularly the care of young children.

Most of the Sunday supplements are printed several days before Sunday so that in this respect The Sun supplement will be as much of a Sunday edition as the best of them. It will furnish an abundance of good reading for the family over Sunday. There will be nothing objectionable in any of its features, its chief aim being to interest, to instruct and amuse.

It is hoped that this added feature, coming as it does at a time when most papers are curtailing, will be duly appreciated by the public generally. We have Sunday papers ranging in price from two cents to seven cents, many of which will have little more than will be found in the Sunday supplement of The Sun which will be given away with Saturday's edition.

SOME WAR PROPHECIES

There are, as might be expected, many conflicting views as to the outcome of the war, both on land and on sea. The possible withdrawal of Russia would give Germany a great impetus, as it would reduce her fighting front by probably one-half and allow her to transfer her forces from the eastern to the western front. Owing to the inactivity of Russia, Germany has already brought 1,000,000 men from the east to do service against the British and French on the western front. There can be no doubt that the retirement of Russia would prolong the war; but it would not, as some suppose, offer a certainty nor even a remote possibility of final victory for Germany.

The Allies will beat Germany without Russia if they must; but it will be a more difficult task. It may take a year longer; but it will be done. They will not even agree to a compromise peace. Some experts, basing their opinions upon the assumption that Germany still retains her fighting power of former years, claim the Allies will never be able to drive her out of France or Belgium, if Russia withdraws.

Russia has not been doing any fighting worth mentioning during the past few months, and yet the Allies have been steadily driving Germany back. There is no reason to assume that Germany can offer sufficient resistance to hold back the Allies during the coming summer and fall. Why? may be asked. Because the German of today is not the big fighting force of last year or the year previous. Her armies are made up of boys of eighteen and men of fifty and sixty years.

On the other hand the forces, the generalship, the experience and the power behind the Allied drive, are all superior to those even of last summer and their increased power added to Germany's decreased power will counterbalance the loss of Russia, if that comes. Thus we venture to disagree with the military critics and experts who say that the Allies can never drive Germany back even to the frontier. The great destruction wrought by the exploding of British mines under the German trenches on Thursday morning shows that the tables are being turned on the Germans. The British have at last learned to fight and the French always knew how to fight. Between them they can drive the Germans back without assistance. But in six months hence, another power—the United States—will take an active part on the western front. At a time when Germany had hoped to force a compromise peace without indemnities and without annexation, the United States comes in to change the situation completely and to blast Germany's last hope of victory. . . . Yes, Germany will be driven out of France and possibly out of Belgium and the ruthless submarine warfare on which she staked all the fortunes of war, will be frustrated if not entirely defeated—surely before the end of this year.

Something may come to change the situation, but otherwise, we feel we have forecast what will most probably take place. As to the end of the war, so long as Germany can hold back the forces on land, she will continue the submarine warfare if she can. Unless we are greatly mistaken, therefore, this year will not see the end of the war. The only thing that could force Germany into a surrender would be a scheme to put the submarines out of commission and such a strong drive on the western front as would bring the Allies into German territory. That is not probable this year. It may not occur until the fall of next year, but it will come if Germany sees fit to keep on fighting. Instead of being ended in three years, therefore, as Lord Kitchener predicted, five years may be necessary to bring a victory that will overthrow autocracy, bring freedom to small nationalities and make the world safe for democracy or the rule of the people, for the people and by the people.

MORE GERMAN TREACHERY

As the Germans tried to bluff the world into the belief that England, France and Belgium were conspiring for the destruction of Germany, they are now trying to convince Russia that America is and has been in league with England to despoil Russia. The foulest of lies are put in the mouth of Mr. Gerard, the ambassador to Germany before the war. The German press is publishing the most ludicrous statements purporting to have been made by Mr. Gerard and tending to show that the United States and England long before we entered the war, were in league to down Russia by having Germany annex part of her territory in order to save England and France from paying indemnities.

Gerard is depicted as a British agent rather than an American minister. Here is a sample of the stuff that is being produced for Russian consumption in this connection:

"In the course of the conversations I became more and more convinced that American and English interests were closely interlocked, and that, in view of the intimate financial relations between the two countries, Mr. Gerard's endeavors would lie in the direction of bringing about a peace favorable to England. Nothing was emphasized more plainly than American consent to German territorial annexation in the east in order to persuade Germany to renounce all claims for indemnity in the shape of money or territory in the west. The idea was invariably the kernel of Mr. Gerard's expositions, which betrayed utter indifference to the fate of England's Russian ally.

Germany, it seems, has great faith in her power of misrepresentation and in the credulity of those whom she wishes to delude.

All the German agencies for spreading doubt, mistrust and disorder are now at work in Russia in order, if possible, to have her withdraw from the war and make a separate peace. Germany has a double purpose in this underhand work. The first is to get Russia to stop fighting and the second to discredit the democratic government and thus prevent other countries from similarly abolishing absolutism, as that has been represented by the Czar and as it still exists under the Kaiser in Germany. Unless Gerard were a veritable ass he would never broach any subject of the kind to any German, much less go into details as now alleged. Nobody who knows him as an American and a man of sound judgment will give any credence to these lies manufactured for the purpose of deluding Russia into a separate peace, which, regardless of conditions or treaties, will mean future disaster for Russia. No nation on earth can afford to rely upon any pledge or treaty made by Germany. She has proved herself so devoid of honor, so indifferent to past pledges, so deceitful, so treacherous, so cruel, so conscienceless, that nothing can safely be left to her discretion. If she is to pursue a just course in the future it must be under compulsion by superior power.

TEAM WORK IN BONDS

The rich man and the poor man are said to have done their full duty towards the Liberty Bonds. The "slacker" is the middle man. It is alleged that New England is far behind the amount which it was expected to contribute to this loan. That indicates failure unless a great effort be made at the last moment.

In some other cities there are team movements that have worked well. Thus in one city the firemen make up $5000 or $10,000; in another the police combine to make a showing and so on. This is a good plan to enlist parties who would otherwise fail to respond. Try it in Lowell.

The government books close on June 15. After that date no more subscriptions can be received. It will be the first setback which the nation will have received, if, when the offer closes, the entire amount shall not have been subscribed. After that you can't buy a bond from the government. If you want to help thereafter you will be buying the bonds of some bank or some capitalist. Money and men are the two great requisites for war. The men have offered their service but those who have the money hold it with a grip that does not budge a high degree of patriotism.

Seen and Heard

Most of the coloring of the news is done by the yellow journals.

No girl ought to wear a short skirt unless it is becoming to her.

Speaking of substitutes for leather, of course the shoemakers can't afford to use chuck steak.

Something that comparatively few of us have seen lately: The kitchen clock at 4.30 in the morning.

Many of the girls in New York high society smoke now, but not many of them yet have begun to cheat.

Now that spring is so far advanced, have you done your duty to the community by varnishing a chair?

Looking at the war, only a bold poet would say now: "Better fifty years of Europe than a cycle of Cathay."

The Kaiser, you know, has said a good deal about wanting a place in the sun. Well, St. Helena is a very sunny island.

Every now and then there is a citizen who is generally looked upon as being above suspicion, and who ought not to be.

Of course we have all seen the man who eagerly reads the big headlines in the paper the newsboy holds up, and doesn't buy the paper.

When you have two friends so long-winded that it is hard for you to decide which is the greater bore, isn't it fun to set them on each other?

When a girl begins to talk sympathetically to a young man about the high cost of living, it is time for him to stop and think what he has said.

Now that there is so much talk about gardening, one Lowell man is considering the idea of planting cabbage seed and raising the material for his own cigars.

Fortunately, we are such a liberal-minded people that a man can go into a restaurant now and order frankfurters and sauerkraut without being arrested as a spy.

There is going to be considerable struggle in July, when the backyard farmer has to decide whether to go to see a doubleheader or stay at home, as he ought to do, and hoe the weeds.

Reason for the Delay

In the Jefferson Market court in New YORK, Herbert Blenner, a machinist, was arraigned charged with having injured Peter Geisner by striking him with a motorcycle while speeding along Sixth avenue last March.

"How is it," asked the magistrate, "that this case is coming up at this time? What did you do at the time that you were struck by Mr. Geisner?" "I went through a saloon window," answered the complainant.

"I FEEL LIKE A NEW BEING"

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" Brought The Joy Of Health After Two Years' Suffering

MADAM LAPLANTE

85 St. Rose St., Montreal, April 4th. "For over two years I was sick and miserable. I suffered from constant Headaches, and had Palpitation of the Heart so badly that I feared I would die. There seemed to be a lump in my stomach and the Constipation was dreadful. I suffered from Pain in the Back and Kidney Disease.

I was treated by a physician for a year and a half and he did me no good at all. I tried "Fruit-a-lives" as a last resort. After using three boxes, I was greatly improved and twelve boxes made me well. Now I can work all day and there are no Headaches, no Palpitation, no Heart Trouble, no Constipation, no Pain or Kidney Trouble and I feel like a new being—and it was "Fruit-a-lives" that gave me back my health!"

MADAM ARTHUR LAPLANTE.

Geography, Local and Foreign
A few nights ago a lady asked a Highland car conductor to let her off at the nearest point to Grace street, and he said he did not know of any Grace street, but had heard of Grace Church.

Yesterday the writer heard the following dialogue between two employees of the same corporation. They had been reading The Sun bulletin announcing the severance of relations between the Haitian government and Germany. "Tom—Where is Haiti?" "Bill—I guess it is in the Philippines." "Tom—No, I think it is over in the Philippines. Bill—Well, I don't care, as long as they tell the Kaiser's errand boy to skidoo."

Erasing the Hyphen

It was the day after registration. The shoe-shine parlor had only two of us as occupants, and as the good-looking Green artist worked industriously in an attempt to behold his reflection in the toes of my good old "sevens," the situation was naturally conducive of conversation. "Register yesterday?" I ventured. "Sure." "How would it be drafted?" "They look after my wife and children—I glad to go; I like army." "Then you were in the army before?" "No, I marry when sixteen—no chance." "How about the old country?" "Everybody drill there; all ready when time comes. Have it over here after this war." Thus the hyphen is being erased.

The Cost of Wedlock

In the opinion of Vincent Braithner, there are worse things than death, oh, yes! As he explained in the domestic relations court in New York he frequently asks himself, however, inaccurately: Oh, death, where is your sting? And up to the close of court he had been unable to pump the desired information out of the well known grim reaper.

Mrs. Braithner rose to remark that her purpose in having her husband taken to court was to make certain that she received less abuse and more money from him. She told the court that they occupied a three-room purgatory in West 112th street, and that her husband, with the aid of a notorious disposition, astounding vocabulary, acknowledged strength and unquestioned lack of restraint, was making every possible effort to thoroughly Shermanize it. "Well?" said the judge, surveying the somewhat huddled and discolored defendant. "Judge," said Mr. Braithner, holding one hand tenderly before one Alice-blue eye, "I married my wife after a great fight. The man I beat in the battle for her hand ended his life in Old City, Pa. I married her—now look me." Mr. Braithner agreed to pay $5 a week, although making it clear that he considered the cost of wedlock tremendous and the advantage negligible.

You Are Great, Father William (Or Chaos in Fatherland)
"You are great, Father William," the crown prince said.
"And your armies can certainly fight.
And yet not an ally has turned tail
And do you think, papa dear, it is right?"

"Do not fear," Father William replied to his son.
"I am mighty, and God's closest friend.
I've offered them peace, but if they will have none,
Our Kultur will win in the end."

"You are great," said the prince, "as I mentioned before,
And you're pounding your enemies flat.
Yet they seem so surprisingly ready
For more—
Pray tell me the reason for that?"

"Do not fear," said the king, as he twirled his mustache.
"God and I, son, are doing our best;
If God will give powder, guns, food,
men and cash—
Papa William will furnish the rest."

"You are great," said the prince, "you are known for your wit,
And you used to be popular, too.
Yet even the neutrals don't like you a bit—
I don't understand it, do you?"

"Do not fear," said the father, "they are for their friends, mothers, children and wives.
For their friends, mothers, children and wives.
If I send out my Zeppelins and big submarines,
So they naturally fear for their lives."

"You are great," said the prince, "one would hardly suppose
You're halted by powder and shell.
Yet here you're completely surrounded by foes—
And what is the reason, pray tell?"

"I've answered three questions," the Kaiser replied.
"And that is sufficient, my son.
There are things I'll admit, that I wish I'd not tried—
Please return now and capture Verdun."

Nationalist Member of Parliament for South Dublin Passed Away—Sinn Féiners Have Another Opportunity

DUBLIN, June 8, via London.—The death of Alderman Cotton, nationalist member of parliament for South Dublin, has given the Sinn Féiners an opportunity to try and win another seat in parliament. The constituency is mainly composed of populous suburbs, in some of which fighting occurred during the rebellion of 1916. The contest promises to be a bitter one. Any division of the nationalist vote would give the unionists an easy victory. It is in accordance with the party rule, the unionists refrain from putting forward a candidate, the result will depend on the nationalist candidate they support.

WAR TIME PROHIBITION

BOSTON, June 8.—Resolutions adopted by the state federation of women's clubs urging war-time prohibition "as a fundamental step in the conservation of the physical strength and moral force of our nation" were

SELL LOTS ON COMMON AT PUBLIC AUCTION

The members of the park commission held a regular meeting at city hall last evening and the matter of disposing of the lots on the South common for the Fourth of July midway was settled, it being voted to sell the lots at auction to the highest bidder.

The plans for the erection of a beauty spot on the South common at the wading pool were discussed, and it was suggested that the pool be made smaller with a clean and safe bottom, and that a garden park and landscape development be established at the Thorne-dike street end of the pool. The drawing will be ready in a week and a meeting will be held next Friday afternoon at 6 o'clock.

M. J. Mahoney asked that a tree be removed at 550 West street because it is in the sidewalk and decaying, and the matter was referred to the tree committee. Michael Sullivan asked that a tree at 74 White street be taken down and this was also referred to the tree committee. O. S. Gray asked that a tree removed at Oak and Huntington streets, and D. Walker petitioned for the removal of a tree at 64 Nineteenth street. Referred. The Saco-Lowell shop was authorized to remove two trees that prevent the erection of its new mill.

SALVATION ARMY FLAG RAISING

Flag exercises were held at the Salvation Army barracks in Jackson st. last night, a very interesting program being carried out under the direction of Adj. James Bowering and the junior sergeant major, James Sawyer. The program opened with the singing of "America" accompanied by the band. Then came an explanation of the national flags of various countries and how they are made by Sergt. Maj. Sawyer, and as each flag was produced the national anthem of the country which the banner represented was either played by the band or sung by the congregation. Among the flags displayed were the British union jack, Canadian, Russian, French, Belgian, Italian, Japanese, Serbian, Norwegian and Portuguese. At the close, the Stars and Stripes leading all the others on the program. The Salvation Army flag was also shown and the army song sung.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of James A. Garfield Relief Corps was held Thursday at which there was a large attendance of members. Whist was enjoyed during the afternoon and it proved to be such a success that it was voted to hold another whist party at the next meeting. As usual an excellent supper was served, the arrangements being in charge of Pauline Crawford assisted by Ada Myrick and Mrs. Dockham. Mrs. Elvira Gilles Flanagan presided at the business session and considerable routine business was transacted. Invitations were received and accepted to attend B. F. Butler Relief Corps, 75 flag day exercises on June 14 in Memorial hall; also from the Middlesex County association on June 26, to be held in the town hall of Westford, and the national convention to be held in Boston. Final arrangements were made for our flag day exercises to be held on June 15, commencing at 7:45 o'clock in Post 120 hall, G. A. R., to which the public is invited. The annual memorial services in honor of the soldier and sailor dead which will be held in Tyngham hall, Sunday, June 17, at 3 o'clock, the public is also invited. The meeting closed with the salute to the flag.

The regular meeting of Court General Dimeson, 217, F. of A. was held in Grifton hall last evening. Chief Ranger Francis J. Murphy presided and assisted by a large membership, transacted considerable routine business. The visiting committee reported three members on the sick list but all are improving. One candidate was initiated into the order and two applicants for membership were elected. The next meeting is to be a summoned meeting at which important matters will be taken up.

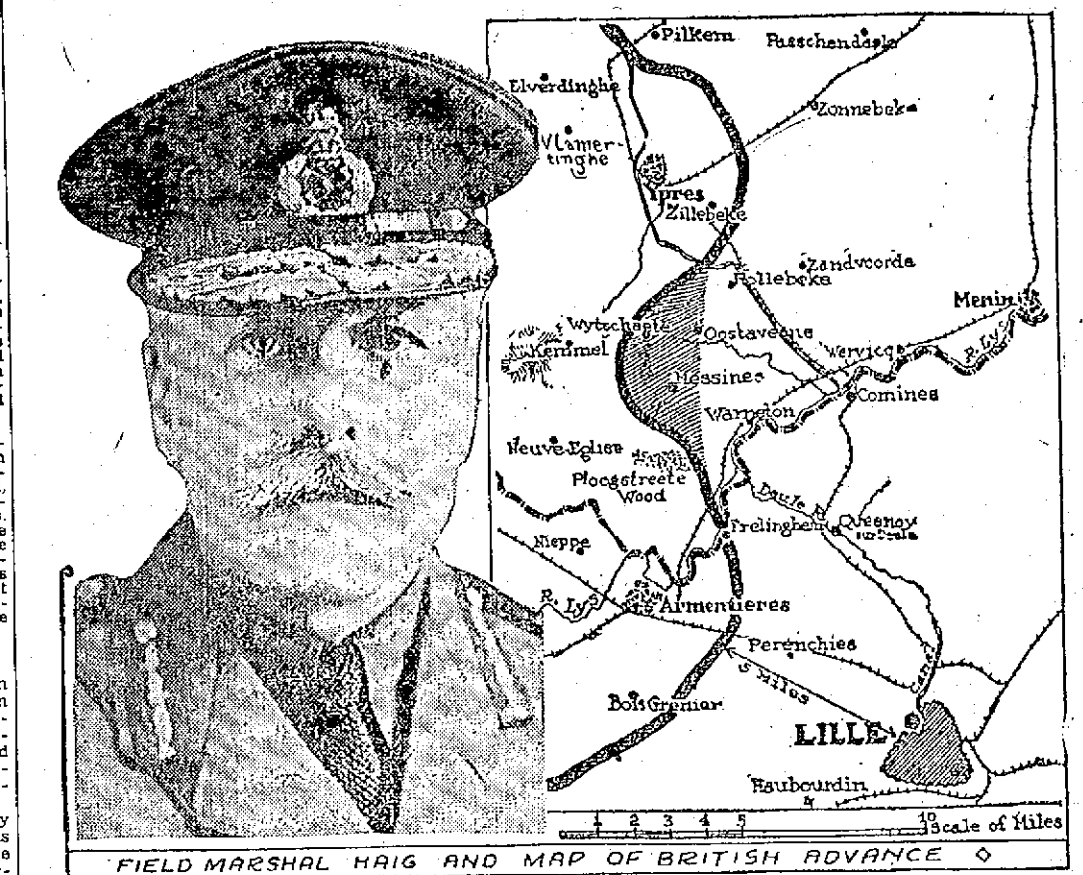

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

A horse belonging to Henry Hilton of Chicago, Ill., who has a farm in Tewksbury, raised considerable excitement in Merrimack Square last evening and two women who occupied the buggy to which the horse was attached had a narrow escape from injury.

The horse, which was driven by Omer Blanchard of Tewksbury, was left standing in Merrimack Square while Mr. Blanchard entered a harness shop. While he was gone one of the women taking the reins started to drive the horse around to the other side of the square in order to head it in the direction of Belvidere. While making the turn the animal became frightened and started to run just missing a collision with one of the regular trucks of the Bay State Street Railway Co., which was stationed nearby. An automobile was drawn up near the curb and between this machine and a post the buggy got caught, the harness breaking allowing the horse to race through East Merrimack street. The women in the buggy escaped injury, but were badly frightened. Later the animal was captured.

FIELD MARSHAL HAIG AND MAP OF BRITISH ADVANCE

The shaded portion of the accompanying map shows the extent of the great British advance, which extended from southwest of Ypres to Ploegsteert wood. The black line shows the former battle line.

The inverted "S," the northern portion curving around Ypres and the southern which the British have flattened out, is indicated. England's military authorities award the major portion of the credit for the recent British advances to Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, British commander in the field, whose latest photograph is reproduced herewith. Sir Douglas was advanced from the rank of general to that of field marshal in January.

    - Court Wagon, 271 M.C.O.F.
    - Chelmsford Rifle Club
- The members of the National Guard received special applause as they passed in line, as well as the G. A. R. and Spanish War Veterans. After traversing the principal streets of the town, the company assembled at the common where the following program of exercises was carried out under the direction of Chairman D. Frank Small:
- Selections, Lowell Cadet Band; invocation, Rev. Henry L. Scott; bugle call, "To the Colors"; flag raising, "The Star Spangled Banner," chorus, bands and audience; address, Hon. John L. Bates, former governor of Massachusetts; selection, Lowell Cadet band; "To Thee, O Country."

High school chorus; address, Thomas L. Walsh, Esq.; English and French national anthems, accompanied by raising of French and English flags; benediction, Rev. D. A. Hudson; "America," chorus, bands and audience.

Each of the speakers spoke in an appropriate vein, and through the presence of Hon. John L. Bates, former governor of Massachusetts, and Major Thomas L. Walsh, brother of former Governor Walsh, the exercises took on a state character rather than that of a purely local affair.

At the conclusion of the program the Training School band offered a concert of timely selections which was thoroughly appreciated.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Miss Mary Giffin, who is soon to become the bride of Mr. Cecil Patton of Pitts Motor Sales department, was given a miscellaneous shower Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Pitts. The members of the "THI We Meet Again Club" and the Campfire Girls of the Hillside church had charge of the shower, which was held to show the appreciation in which Miss Giffin is held by her friends.

After the shower an interesting program was carried out, and the following young ladies took part: Miss Helen Breck and Miss Helen Fessler with songs; Miss Laura Grant and Miss Lily Tucker, piano selections, and Miss Ethel Tucker, readings.

Miss Laura Grant was the accompanist of the evening.

MONEY FOR RED CROSS

At a recent meeting the graduating class of the Lowell high school voted to give to the Red Cross fund the money which is usually spent on a class gift. This sum, combined with over $35 which was realized from this year's class social, will total approximately $125, and will be an appreciable addition to the fund.

Plans for the school graduation, which is to take place June 27, are rapidly rounding into shape, and meetings of the class are being held frequently to perfect the minor details.

FLAG RAISING

On Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock a flag raising will be held on the common in Dracut Centre, when a large banner will be unfurled from a seventy-five foot pole. A program of patriotic exercises has been arranged and will include the following:

The presentation of the flag and oration by Dr. Moses G. Parker and address by Senator Arthur W. Colburn. Miss Anna Roth and George Guthrie will sing, and Mrs. Belle Harrington Hall will read. There will be chorus singing and an orchestra will furnish a musical program.

The Boy Scouts from the Hillside church will be in attendance, and will be presented a silk flag which was recently given to them by Capt. Wm. P. White, U.S.N., retired, for the honors which they won in the efficiency contest held by several scout troops.
